Good Citizenship Brings Dividend To Sammy Green, 12

The night of December 16th will be long remembered by pupils and faculty of the East Lake School in Pahokee. Not only was it the occasion of the fifth annual presentation of "Joybells of Christmas," beautiful pageant of the Nativity presented each year as part of the Community Relations Program by the school, but there was a very special presentation which preceded the pageant and which proved the feeble and very proud and happy.

This was the reward for Good Citizenship presented to Sammy Green, fifth grade pupil at East Lake, by the Palm Beach County Board of Public Instruction through Mr. Henry O. Earwood, member of the Board and Mr. Howell L. Watkins, Superintendent of Public Instruction. The reward was a check for $250.00.

Events leading up to this occasion were as follows: On Halloween night the school was broken into and a classroom record player and brand new adding machine were stolen; ten nights later, the same thing occurred, with another record player, a typewriter, and petty cash being taken. The last time there was also some breakage and vandalism.

Chief of Police Leon Guthrie and Principal Stanleigh Murrell talked to all pupils, explaining that closed lips, but wide open eyes and ears, might help in solving the robbery and instructing them as to proceeding in case any of the missing property should be spotted. On Armistice night, Sammy Green, returning from a late movie, saw the thief trying to dispose of a record player which he recognized as being one of those stolen from the school.

Quick thinking, the ability to reach a fast decision, plus positive action on the part of the 12-year-old pupil resulted in the apprehension, and conviction of the culprit, plus the return of all but one item of the missing school property.

The School Board, meanwhile, had posted a $250 dollar reward for information leading to the arrest, conviction of the guilty party or parties . . . and without question Sammy earned his reward. In making the presentation both Mr. Earwood and Mr. Watkins spoke highly of the quality of work and the type of citizenship being fostered by the school program, congratulating the principal, faculty and student body upon the type of future citizens being developed as was evidenced by Sammy upon this occasion.

Asked how this money would be spent, Sammy's mother said that it would be "put in the bank for Sammy's future education."

THE CHRISTMAS DINNER

Young Mrs. Frank Sanderson hung up the telephone receiver and stared blankly at the beautifully set dining table. The Santa Claus sleigh centerpiece filled with red and white striped candy canes, the sprig of holly at each place setting, the gleaming silver—was it all to be for nothing?

"I'm so terribly sorry," her mother had just said over the phone. "We simply aren't going to be able to make it for Christmas dinner. The roads are just a sheet of ice."

"Oh, Mother!" Eva had exclaimed. "I won't seem like Christmas at all without you here. And Frank and I were so excited about it being our first time to have the family."

"I knew how disappointed you'd be, Eva," Mother answered. "E. Dad says it's just impossible."

"Oh, Frank!" Eva was close to tears. "It's going to seem so queer without mom and Dad." "I know how you feel, honey," Frank put an arm around her comfortingly. And what's more, what about all that food sitting around the kitchen?"

"We'll just have to find somebody to eat with us," Eva wiped her eyes and looked thoughtful. "Let's see, can you think of any of our friends here in town who hadn't planned anything special for today?"

"Well," Frank said, "the Springers are eating with the folks, the Albrights left by train yesterday for Detroit, the McCalls—oh, you know as well as I do that everybody's dated off. You just can't leave Christmas dinner to chance."

"Frank! What about the Aarongards? You know the woman and his family who live in the cottage down by the docks?"

"You mean that tall, quiet fellow with three or four tow-headed kids?"

"Yes, and I heard someone in the post office yesterday saying they've been having a struggle lately—the river's been so ice-blocked that he can't get his boat out to the lake, and there's nothing coming in for them."

"Honey, that's a swell idea!" Frank agreed heartily. "But what'll we tell them?"

"Why, just the plain truth, that our folks couldn't make it at the last minute and we'd be so glad if they'd substitute for them."

"Maybe they won't believe it," Frank said. "They've got their pride you know, people like that don't want charity."

"Just try, anyway," Frank. Eva pleaded. "Go ahead and phone him right now."

"O. K., here goes," And Frank went to the phone.

A minute or two later Frank hung up the receiver and shook his head. "Just what I was afraid of," he sighed. "When I first started to talk, and wished him Merry Christmas he seemed tickled to death, that we'd thought of them, but the minute I mentioned the invitation he froze up and said very politely that they had their own plans. He just didn't believe the story."

Eva looked crestfallen. But after a moment's silence she suddenly said, "Let me have that phone, and hastily dialed a number."

"Mr. Aarongard, this is Mrs. Sanderson. We're so sorry you can't come to dinner here, it would have meant a lot to us. But I'm calling this time to ask a favor of you."

"I understand that you go inland to Brinkville every week or so to deliver some fish orders. I just wonder if, the next time you go, you'd be kind enough to take my family's gifts to them—their farm is right on your way."

"Yes, all their things are under the tree here. We naturally expected them to pick them up when they came to dinner, but—"

Eva began to smile as she listened, and then said cordially, "Oh, fine, we'll expect all of you at about three o'clock. Good-bye 'til then." And she hung up the receiver.

"They guess they'll come after all, if we don't say it myself," Frank grinned. "Come on, let's shove that bird in the oven."

JOIN THE MARINES BE HOME CHRISTMAS

"If I enlist in the Marines now, will I be home for Christmas and New Year holidays?"

The answer is definitely and emphatically "YES."

According to Major Robert L. Autry, Officer in Charge of Marine Corps recruiting in Florida, this is the question most frequently asked by applicants for the all-Florida Everglades Platoon. Men enlisting in this group will not be sent to active duty until January 20, 1954, the Major stressed.

Enlistments are accepted in the Everglades Platoon although only a limited quota has been authorized. Young men facing obligated military service may find induction now have the opportunity to enlist and serve with their buddies and fellow Floridians during their recruit training at Parris Island, S. C. The Everglades Platoon, which is made up entirely of men from the State of Florida, offers this chance to young men who enlist now.

Remember, January 20, 1954, is the date you will go on active duty. Major Autry reminds applicants: For further information contact your Marine Corps Recruiting Station at U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Sub-Station, Post Office Building, West Palm Beach, Florida.

BEHAVIOR PROBLEMS IN CHILDREN BY FREE FORUM

"Do you really understand your child?" "What makes a child jealous?" "What causes the child to be nervous?" These are a few of the interesting questions to be asked the panel on "Behavior Problems in Children" by Dr. B. S. Sory, Moderator.

This Free Medical Forum is to be the third of the series of six Forums to be staged in January and February in the Palm Beach High School auditorium at 8:30 in the evening.

The Forums are sponsored by the County Health Department and the County Medical Society as a part of the Public Relations program. These programs are designed to dispel fear and to bring hope and encouragement to all," stated Dr. T. E. Daly, President, County Medical Society.

Miss Margaret F. Bodenstern is Secretary of the Forums and is now making the final arrangements for the opening Forum on Progress in Polio to be held on Tuesday evening, January 12th, at 8:30.

This question of understanding the child can be and is a most important one. A child that has not the love and affection its nature calls for can develop into an adult problem," stated Dr. Sory. "Are we asking too much of the child?"

We may be the problem and the child," continued Dr. Sory.

On the panel will be Dr. W. F. Ande, Dr. R. V. Artola, Dr. G. L. Gaines, Dr. J. P. Greene, Dr. E. A. P. Kellerman and Dr. D. W. Martin.

Recommended control of wireworm and other soil pests
... on all Florida
vegetable crops

LAST YEAR aldrin established a fine record of soil pest control on Florida corn, sugar cane and sweet potatoes. Now aldrin is recommended by Florida Experiment Stations for use on every important vegetable crop in the state.

Aldrin gives you these important control advantages:

1. Powerful killing action—all season freedom from soil pest damage with just one application.

2. Chemical stability—Aldrin remains stable regardless of the pH of the soil (acid or alkaline). This stability holds even when aldrin is mixed with fertilizer.

3. Can be used two ways—in an aldrin-fertilizer mix, or sprayed directly on the ground and harrowed in.

4. Low per-acre cost—a direct result of aldrin's high killing power.

So—for healthy crops get aldrin: Your fertilizer or insecticide dealer can supply you.
